Wastebook 2011

By United States Government US Senate

CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 98 pages. Dimensions: 11.0in. x 8.5in. x 0.2in. Dear Taxpayer, Robot dragons, video games, Christmas trees, snow cone machines, and chocolate. This is not a Christmas wish list. These are just some of the ways the federal government spent your tax dollars this year. Over the past 12 months, Washington politicians argued, debated and lamented about how to reign in the federal governments out of control spending. All the while, Washington was on a shopping binge, spending money we do not have on things we do not need, like the 6.9 billion worth of examples provided in this report. The result: Instead of cutting wasteful spending, nearly 2.5 billion was added each day in 2011 to our national debt, which now exceeds 15 trillion. Congress deadlocked over whether or not savings could be found by closing loopholes within the complex tax code. Meanwhile, the IRS approved roughly 1 billion in tax credits intended for energy efficiency home improvements to individuals who did not even own a house. These recipients included prisoners and children, some probably not even old enough to own a doll house...
